Many Weddings Announced to Occur on Autumn Days.

Another Lord From Across the Water Combey for One of America's Fair Daughters.

A greater harvest of engagement and wed anouncements than any other season has known is being reaped in these early autumn days. Surely the troublesome question, "Is marriage a failure," which was intely done to death, had not nine lives, but one, and has been thoroughly and sat-isfactorily laid to rest by the positive response of the young folks of America on the negative side. The latest international affair is the betrothal of Lord Bennet, eldest son of the Earl of Tankerville, who arrived in this country recently, to Miss Leonora Van Merter, or Tacoma, W. T. Lord Bennet is a prominent churchman, having done splendid service for Christianity in the slums of London. He is heir to the title and im-immense estate of his father, who is eighty five years old. Miss Van Marter was bornon the continent and for a long time resided in Rome, but is the daughter of American parents, and has made her home at Tacomator

Among the notable early autumn weddings of Hoston was the marriage of Miss Mary Stoddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Stoddard, of Boston, and Mr. George D. Yeomans, of Buffalo, a son of Hon-James D. Yeomans, of the Interstate Com-merce Commission. The marriage was like diamonds, formed a gorgeous setting for the wedding party.

The church was filled with the elite of Boston, and the many friends of the groom from Baffaio, his home, and from other Western and New England cities.

As the organ pealed forth the happy strains of the wedding march, the bride's attendants, seven in number, advanced from either side of the altar down the center aisle to neet the bride.

HARVEST HOME DECORATIONS

Addresses of Welcome Delivered by the Sunday-School Scholars-The Pastor's Eloquent Response to the Kind Words - Important Church Work Mapped Out by the Members.

The officers and members of the Calvary Baptist Sunday-school held their annua rally day services at the church yesterday morning and over twelve hundred people were present. The services were under the direction of Mr. P. H. Bristow, superintendent of the school, and the occasion proved one of the msot enjoyable in the history of the organization. In addition to the regular programme, which was prepared for the service, the scholars took advantage of the occasion by tendering a warm reception to their pastor, Rev. S. H.

Greene, who has just returned from his summer vacation. The large Sunday-school room of the edifice was elaborately decorated in the "barvest home" style, something very much out of the ordinary for such an event, nevertheless tastefully arranged as they were, these novel decorations afforded a scene of un-usual beauty. The banisters of the stairs which lead to the room were covered with pieces of holly, other kinds of wild woo and running vines. On the platform stood a large decorated jar filled with branches of apple trees with the fruit growing upon pit, the face of which was covered with hundreds of bunches of beautiful blue grapes. Autumn leaves covered the foot of the cross.

The opening numbers on the order of exercise was a processional hymn, "March On," sung by the adult department and to which the members of the primary, in-termediate, and junior department marched in their respective order into the room. An address of welcome to the pastor was de-livered by a scholar of each of the four departments.

Anna Goddard, a pretty tot of not more than seven years, told Dr. Greene how glad his band of little workers were to see him, and Miss Rosalie Bartlett repre-sented the Intermediate department.

sented the Intermediate department.

Mr. Thomas Grasty spoke for the juniors and Mr. W. H. Davidson expressed the adults' welcome to their pastor. A greeting song, writtenespecially for the escasion by Mr. P. H. Bristow, was rendered by the entire school and greatly enjoyed.

Dr. Greene made an eloquent response to these many greetings. He said:

"I have traveled through England, upher mountains, and on her lakes; I have seen Loudon and its magnificent relies of the past as well-as its beautiful buildings of the present; I have been in the historic fields of France and seen the famous city of Paris; I have been in Germany and on the wonderful mountains of Switzerland. the wonderful mountains of Switzerland, but in none of these places of beauty and historic interest, not even among the mar-velous works of nature have I been so touched and my soul so stirred as in the welcome which I have received here this

Mrs. Dorothy Rogers Noyes, whose sweet voice has often Rogers Noyes, whose sweet voice has often been heard at the Calvary Church, rendered the "Holy City." Mr. D. A. Chambers, who has for the past thirty years been librarian of the school, presented his plan for library work, stating that the school proposed adding 18,000 new books to the library. He also made an appeal for assistance in raising funds for the same. Mr. F. W. Vaughn's class of young men pledged $100 and this was followed with spledge from Mr. S. W. # VOICE OF THE EVANGELIST

Messrs. Potter and Miller Warmly Greeted at Hamline Church.

STANDING ROOM SCARCE

Plain, Practical Talk of the Former Chicago Business Man Made a Deep Impression Upon the Congregation-Prof.Miller's Singinga Feature of the Services-Fifty Conversions.

A whole-souled, flattering reception was tendered Evangelists W. D. Potter and E. F. Miller, of Chicago, by the congregation at Hamiline M. E. Church yesterday at the morning service. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, every seat being occupied and standing room at a premium. while many could not enter the edifice without crowding.

The congregation was deeply affected by the plain-spoken, pointed, yet touching remarks of Mr. Potter, many being moved to tears. It is seldom that an audience has the privilege of hearing the gospel dis-cussed from a business standpoint by a business man as it was vesterday by Mr. Potter. Mr. Potter strikes the popular feeling in the prosecution of his work because of his business-like methods of conducting his meetings, and keeps up a high degree of interest from the opening to the close. He has a commanding presence, clerical appearance and as a speaker is interesting and persuasive. MR. MILLER'S SONG POWER. Seated in the sanctuary with Mr. Potter were Rev. J. E. Todd, pastor of the church, and Mr. E. F. Miller, the song evangelist, whose splendid voice goes to the hearts of his hearers. Behind these was a choir of a hundred select voices, under the direction of Mr. J. Archer Rose. The organ was pre-sided over by Mr. Otis I. Swett.

The services were opened with congrega-tional singing, led by the choir, after which prayer was offered by Rev. Dr.

which prayer was offered.

Mr. Miller then sang the hymn, "No Tears in Heaven," in a full, round, melliow, bagtione voice, in a way that visibly affected the congregation.

Mr. Potter was then introduced by Rev. Todd and made an eminently practical address. He took his text from the gospel of St. John, fourteenth chapter, 113th verse: "In my Father's house there are mansions; and if I go to prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto myself."

In his opening remarks Mr. Potter said that there were three words familiar and dear to us all, "home, mother and heaven," and it was of heaven he spoke chiefly. WHAT IS HEAVEN?

No one ever had a clear conception of heaven until Jesus Christ was manifest in the flesh. He came to us and speke of it in familiar terms; he called it his home with many mansions, the house of his father.

We all like to speak of heaven, but what We all like to speak of heaven, but what is it? Where is it? Astronomers tell us all about the bodies moving in space, and that the sun is the center of all. But after all it is not so far away that God does not see us at all times. Man looks upon the outside, but God looks on the inside, to the depths of our innermost soul. It is not so far away that if I were to die this moment my soul would be with God before sundown.

We ask ourselves and others innumerable questions: What kind of a place is it; what road must we take, and what shall we do when we get there. Well, there will be no occupation for physiciaus, for there is the healer of all; nor will there be any need for dry goods merchants, for we will all be clothed in garments of the Lamb. before sundown. Nor will we have to contend against sin, for Satan and his emissaries shall never cross the threshold of the City of the New

Mr. Potter held the closest attention of Mr. Potter held the closest attention of the audience throughout, and at the clog-gave an opportunity for any present who desired to become Christians to make it manifest. His appeal was answered by nearly a half hundred of the congregation. The meetings will be continued every evening at 7:30 at the same place for several weeks.

ALEXANDRIA HAPPENINGS.

The residents of Fayette and Henry streets are making vigorous complaints against the rapid running of the trains, which, they claim, is doing much usmage to property and decreasing the value of real estate each day. The city laws prescribe that no train shall go through the city at a speed greater than five miles an hour, but there is not a train, passenger or renght, that does not move at twice inasspeed. The city author fittes have made several efforts to punish violators of the law, but it seems to do no good. It is understood that a number of the parties whose property has been injured will enter civil actions for damages.
